Study on the present situation, is a enrichment development for students' part-time job and an exploration for personalized education service between school education and family education. The paper first elaborates the effects of undergraduates home tutor and then summarized the pretty complex and unique phenomenon. Also, it analyzes various problems in undergraduates home tutor. Finally, it provides some effective solutions for activity regulation and management, hoping to offer a great reference for undergraduate home tutor activities.

Keywords

students tutor, tutor management, recommendations.

1. Introduction

The paper has issued a more in-depth research about Chinese higher education colleges and universities, which has combined with each other and college enrollment, achieving remarkable results. At the same time, college students' learning and living, employment and student loans also have been more focused, but it has few studies in terms of work-study program. Students tutor as an important form of work-study is an extension of school education, educational methods, contents, forms, and even values, which has resulted in varying degrees of shock. So researching this problem has theoretical and practical significance.

Studying the issue is not only help to promote the healthy development of college students tutoring, regulating college students' tutoring in the market in an orderly manner, but also help promote the settlement of the problems in family education, easing the pressure of school students.

2. The role of college student tutor

2.1 Promoting the physical and mental health of college students.

For college students, they want to be able to be independent in mind and behavior, pursuing the freedom and desiring to derive from the family to achieve further economic independence ideas. Through the work, many college students tutor first taste of independence in the process to find a part-time with self-confidence. They will not be shamed due to excessive financial burden. From this perspective, it brings a great benefit for university students' growth.

Students tutor with part-time job are divided into three kinds of people. First is to get rid of family poverty, reducing the economic burden of the family .Second is to increase the social experience. Third is to obtain material benefits. For poor students, through earning their tuition and living expenses, we should be affirmed. For those families with better conditions for part-time job, They want to learn and integrate into society as soon as possible, increasing an individual's social practice. And some want to strive to meet their material needs. For these students, who allow to be independent through life. More importantly, it can no longer be obtained from the parents, so that their self-esteem and spirit have been met. By doing part-time to get the money, allowing students to establish a correct concept of money. Money is not easy to get by their parents, They must respect their labor and the labor of themselves, which have positive effects for their own mental health development.

2.2 The complementary role of educational resources.

Chinese educational resources are in uneven distribution, even in adequate educational resources and a high level of teaching towns, there are also differences in sub-ordinary primary and secondary schools. Recently there have been some elite schools. The high schools are usually divided into provincial key middle school, high school, and some high school in cities or countries. Some excellent teachers in rural districts due to their own or extrinsic reasons usually flow to a better school. Moreover, in order to compete for high-quality learning seedlings, key middle school levels pay at all costs, vigorously promoting the advantages of the school and giving scholarships, various incentives enrollment, living expenses, accommodation and tuition remission for students, which caused different schools have teaching different content, quality and quantity as well as uneven teachers. In addition, some teachers have limited energy capacity and old ages, they have slow updating knowledge, which can not meet the rapid development of today's adolescent physical and mental points. Classroom and teaching model is one to many, which is impossible to take into account all of the students and individualized. Accordingly, it led to part of the ordinary students can easily be overlooked in the teaching process, causing weariness, and a series of side branches problem.

Undergraduates, just stepping from high school not for a long time, as successful men in examination-oriented education, their age and psychology have similarities with and schoolchildren, so that they can experience the learning or other causes of poor academic distress in the learning process. It through effective communication and targeted counseling improving students achievement with great help. Students fees is relatively low, making up time with students in school time. There is no conflict, but also on-site service, ensuring the safety of students and saving their time, so that it was loved by the parents and students. The tutoring market is prosperous and active, it has proven students have mastered a certain knowledge and learning ability, which are relatively mature individuals. We can already make up the weaknesses of educational resources.

3. Problems encountered for undergraduate home tutor

3.1 Qualification and nature.

At this stage, even the Normal School students also need get teacher qualification. So that many students did not get tutoring Teacher Certification. That is to say, after all, not a professional in-service teachers, so the students themselves are not professional, for some knowledge, there is a lack of professional knowledge of the lack of professional knowledge. It is difficult to effectively teach systematic knowledge to students, which is easy to result in student learning misleading.

3.2 Safety .

Students tutor security issues include activities of college students tutoring and personal safety is guaranteed labor remuneration. First, tutoring market is not very formal, although there are many tutoring companies, most have no business license and business license. So its legitimacy and credibility can not be guaranteed. Then, many college students in general are going for tutoring activities in night class or weekends. However, college students, after all, still a student lack of self-protection and self-protection. They are easy to meet security problems outside the school, which make college students' personal safety can not be fully guaranteed.

3.3 Defects and deficiencies University Management System.

Universities' attitudes as students tutor and is the problems themselves have highlighted the defects and deficiencies of the system of higher education system in decision-making. On the one hand, some of the existing management system of colleges and universities have not be conducive to physical and mental development of students. There is a need to improve deficiencies; On the other hand, the emergence of phenomena such as college students tutoring and problems for colleges, universities are not timely introducing appropriate management systems. There are still gaps in the system led to some long-standing problems can not be resolved. At the same time, there are some social workers into the school to collect and sell tutoring information through informal channels with unstable factors for these college students management and security management on campus. The university did not develop detailed rules and regulations for effective and timely management measures.

3.4 Lack of responsibility and motivation of interest.

Students tutor for work often lack of proper understanding of most people. They make money for the purpose. During teaching time, they teach before class and then scan through the knowledge. Some of the students do not even prepare class. Thus the teaching knowledge lacks of systematic, integrity and effectiveness. Students are difficult to have a good grasp. There are many reasons as college student tutors. The main reason is forced by economic pressures. This makes their motivation of teaching tends to be benefit-oriented, so they often focus only on short-term behavior. Their attitudes are not very serious. This is a side performance for their lack of responsibilities.

4. Development and management of the students' tutor Resources

4.1 Rational Development and Utilization of Resources of College Students Tutor.

College Students tutor's rational development and utilization of resources will not only facilitate the work-study college students, but meet the needs of parents of students Students tutor. Teachers resources are rich and strong in scientific research. The identification of qualified college students tutoring and training are the best and most authoritative one. By university experts, locating the economic activities of college students with a reasonable and academic orientation, determining qualification tutor college students certificates. Guiding college students rationally and correctly, encouraging students to start their own businesses, so that students arrange their social activity times. At the same time, certainly strengthening the role of community college students, college students tutoring service center can be established through the Students' Associations, providing them with reliable and high-quality university student tutors, and analyzing student learning and family education problems encountered in the process. In addition, community college students can also use their own advantages. College students organize lectures and discussions on ways and means at the university campus. Lectures will be held or compulsory training for the current situation and problems of family education, providing help and guidance to students and parents.

4.2 Support from education and administration departments of all levels.

The implementation of China's educational management system is a hierarchical management, from city and County Education Bureau, the Provincial Department of education, and then to the Ministry of education, the healthy development of college students tutoring activities, is inseparable from the support in educational management departments at all levels. College students is the most direct managers and responsible, which can be able to manage college students qualify for accurate positioning, but can also provide guidance on educational and psychological aspects for them. However, students in the tutoring activities, face mainly students. These small schools are owned by the city and county of department of education leadership. The problems and causes of students appearing in schools should not be paid by college students. The requirements of tutors are decided by all cities and counties education department. Some colleges and universities are owned by the direct management of the Ministry of Education, some by the seat of the provincial administration, management and development of University Students. In the process of tutoring resources, it needs to be help by the Ministry of Education and the provincial education department's financial and policy. Status and role of their legality and necessity of the students tutor needs to be recognized by education administration. Only by this, it can make college students tutoring activities become more formal and legal, students tutor groups are universally recognized by society and better regulate the market and the development of college students tutoring. So that students can be better pursued.

5. Conclusion

Chinese undergraduate home tutor activity has met the demands of social experiences, speed up socialism and solved their life difficulties to some extent. Furthermore, its meets the needs of parents' quality education for their children as well as rapidly improving their academic performance and successfully passing the entrance examination. It also reflects the social experience of graduating college students' lack of primary and secondary school education system needs further reform and improvement, the management system of university students also has many problems. So how to rationally develop and utilize this valuable educational resources, universities and other sectors needs to continue research and in-depth problem. With the deepening of scientific research and increasing sophistication of management methods and the level of management, they become the beautiful landscape in Chinese school education, social education and family education system.
