1. Introduction

At this stage, the MOOC has been widely used in China. The combination of MOOC and curriculum ideological and political education has provided new opportunities for ideological and political education and realized the full coverage of education. Secondly, it is conducive to the ideological and political education to keep pace with the times and enrich its content. With the development of the times, ideological and political education is also deepening. Therefore, we should constantly update ideas and change methods with the needs of society. The ideological and political construction of curriculum based on MOOCs is the new requirements of Ideological and political education given by the times, which injects new content into Ideological and Political Education and improves the effectiveness of education.Curriculum ideology and politics is an important way to spread the national mainstream ideology and cultivate high-quality talents. Its practical effect has been widely concerned and highly valued by everyone. As a new educational means based on the development of the Internet, the MOOC has a strong sense of the times. Its rise and gradual development provide a good idea for the ideological and political construction of the curriculum. In terms of educational methods, teachers have changed from the previous dominant position to the leading position, and students have changed from passive receiving knowledge to active exploring knowledge. To a certain extent, this mode of teaching can stimulate students' desire for knowledge, mobilize their enthusiasm, and greatly improve exam oriented education, but enable students to find problems more actively, Solving problems improves their ability to think and solve problems independently; In terms of teaching resources, it can realize high-quality resource sharing and promote the relative fairness of education. In the face of rich and high-quality resources, some relatively weak colleges and universities will also improve their own educational level and provide students with a better teaching atmosphere by sharing teaching resources.

2. The Importance of Practicing Curriculum Ideology and Politics in Talent Training

In the practical process of training applied talents, we need to deeply practice the core concept of curriculum ideological and political education. We should fully apply the curriculum ideological and political model to relevant courses to fundamentally improve the educational effect and quality of curriculum ideological and political education. Practice has proved that in the course teaching practice based on MOOCs, it plays a very important role to integrate ideological and political education and form an ideological and political system[4].On the one hand, the implementation of Ideological and political education, Integrating Ideological and political education with professional education based on MOOCs, can penetrate ideological and political education into every corner of professional teaching, inspire students anytime and anywhere, optimize quality while improving ability, and improve the quality of comprehensive talent training. On the other hand, in the practice of Ideological and political education in Colleges and universities, carrying out ideological and political education based on MOOCs will have an important impact on students' Ideological and political ability or consciousness. Ideological and political education is a more humanized and effective teaching model both in traditional teaching and MOOC teaching. By actively combining ideological and political content with professional content and with the help of various teaching methods, it will really help to improve students' professional quality and comprehensive ability. In addition, actively practicing the concept of curriculum ideological and political education in MOOCs, covering all links of curriculum ideological and political education, can improve the effectiveness of Ideological and political education as a whole and promote the construction of Ideological and political teaching team.

3. Necessity of Ideological and Political Education for College Students Based on MOOCs

In the process of learning in Colleges and universities, most students become more and more rich with experience and thinking, pay attention to political events, and basically have correct political views and strong political discipline. However, with the wide range of media information sources, it will also affect the identification ability of a few students. In the long run, it will form wrong political views, values and outlook on life, which will greatly hinder personal development and progress. While most students can help each other and help others, some college students are deeply poisoned by western liberalism, despise collectivism, pay attention to individualism, pay too much attention to personal interests and personal development, and have a weak sense of social responsibility and responsibility of the times. In the process of striving for success and talent, they overemphasize self-worth and self realization, ignore collective value, and lack gratitude to the collective, the nation and the country. Because of paying too much attention to material benefits and utility, hedonism and money worship continue to breed among students, taking luxury and pleasure as the standard of happiness, and the pursuit of life becomes low-level. It is also worth noting that college students are avant-garde and easy to accept new things. Therefore, college students' Ideological and political education must adhere to both core and comprehensiveness. This requires accurately grasping the characteristics of the times and the world development trend, and guiding college students' values with realistic and local character and morality. At the same time, the ideological and political education of college students must adhere to extensive penetration, and there is no gap in the process of Ideological and political education. In the course of Ideological and political practice, we should integrate ideological and political education into professional education in combination with the characteristics of the curriculum, which will help to improve college students' political consciousness and professional ability in professional learning.

At present, the development of MOOCs are in full swing, but due to the nature of their imported products and the lack of practice time, the construction of curriculum ideology and politics is ignored in the development of MOOCs. Obviously, in the current situation of more and more common and important higher education in MOOCs, it is of great significance to strengthen the construction and practice of curriculum ideology and politics in MOOCs.

4. Specific Countermeasures of College Students′ Ideological and Political Education Based on MOOCs

(1)Improve the importance of Ideological and political education in MOOC. First, strengthen the ideological and political construction of MOOC, establish a strict and scientific access system for MOOC, establish a reasonable MOOC teaching evaluation system, encourage the innovation of educational methods and means, establish a strong team of teachers who admire lessons, establish new teacher evaluation mechanisms and standards, mobilize the enthusiasm of MOOC teachers to participate in curriculum ideological and political education, and make MOOC teachers realize that they should pay attention to educating people while teaching knowledge, Actively tap the ideological and political education resources in MOOC to improve teachers' curriculum ideological and political awareness and ability; Second, make an overall plan for ideological and political education in MOOC, uniformly plan the content of MOOC, and improve the quality of Ideological and political education resources.

(2)Enrich the ideological and political content of MOOC courses. The MOOCs includes ideological and moral awareness education, ideological and political education, moral and legal education, responsibility awareness and other contents, so as to ensure the implementation effect of Ideological and political education based on MOOCs.

(3)Give full play to the role of MOOCs in Ideological and political education. To carry out ideological and political education through MOOCs, we should establish the concept of curriculum ideological and political education, integrate ideological and political education into MOOCs, give full play to the role of MOOCs in Ideological and political education, improve teachers' Ideological and political quality, build a mechanism and platform for teachers' collaborative education, improve the system guarantee and evaluation system, and run ideological and political education through the whole process of MOOC education and teaching.

(4)Improve teachers' Ideological and political ability and quality. In MOOC education and teaching, teachers are still the key factor of education and teaching, and their comprehensive quality level directly affects the effect of education and teaching. Therefore, it is necessary to constantly optimize the teaching staff of Ideological and political education, and improve teachers' Ideological and political education ability and curriculum ideological and political consciousness.

(5)Expand the ways to realize ideological and political education in MOOCs. In the process of traditional education, ideological and political education is still weakened. In the form of teaching, curriculum ideological and political education is even more insignificant. Therefore, we need to change this phenomenon, and we must actively expand the realization ways of Ideological and political education, so as to promote the development of curriculum ideological and political education in the course.

5. Conclusion

In the process of teaching practice of MOOCs, in order to improve students' political quality and comprehensive ability, and continuously optimize students' learning awareness and value understanding, we should deeply and comprehensively carry out ideological and political teaching in MOOCs, and actively integrate professional teaching and ideological and political teaching on MOOC platforms, Through the continuous improvement of relevant policies, a comprehensive and systematic ideological and political education system mechanism is formed to promote the improvement of talent training quality.
